Memo of Understanding for the Academic Integrity Competition
2006-2007

The Stillman School of Business is proud to announce a competition open to undergraduate and graduate students who are fully enrolled in the School. The eligibility requirements and the terms of the competition are as follows:

1. Students must be in good standing at the University. Undergraduates need to have successfully completed 15 credits at Seton Hall University as of January 7, 2007, and graduates need to have completed 6 credits of graduate work at the Stillman School as of January 7, 2007.

2. Students are asked to recommend one or two initiatives the Stillman School should undertake to ensure that students, faculty, or administrators fulfill their role in maintaining the highest levels of academic integrity and honesty in the School.

3. Where essays are equally competitive, the applicant’s grade point average, as well as accumulated credits, will be used to break ties.

4. The submission should consist of a maximum of three double-spaced pages. The author can identify the gaps he/she believes currently exist in academic integrity and his/her recommendation to overcome these challenges. The submission can also address the consequences, if any, that should flow from lapses in academic integrity. There should be sufficient detail in the essay so that the author’s proposal can be implemented by the School.

5. One prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the best undergraduate essay, and one prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the best graduate essay. Honorable Mention Awards may also be granted.
