THE UNIVERSITY

MISSION STATEMENT

The spirit of Seton Hall University is that of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton, from whom the University takes both its heritage and its name. This Catholic institution of higher learning continues to fulfill its century-old challenge of discovering and unfolding with its learners the wondrous complexity of truths, both sacred and secular, and the moral values which they found. Seton Hall, the largest and oldest diocesan university in the United States, welcomes and educates men and women of all races, creeds and ethnic origins, from within and beyond the state of New Jersey. The University provides, through diversified yet integrated curricula, undergraduate and graduate degree programs in the arts, the sciences and the professions. In a supportive learning environment where religious commitment and academic freedom form a lasting partnership, the University prepares its students for effective and responsible participation and leadership in their professional, community, religious and family lives.

April, 1992

A BRIEF HISTORY

Seton Hall University is the largest and oldest diocesan university in the United States. The first bishop of Newark, James Roosevelt Bayley, founded Seton Hall in 1856, naming it after his aunt, Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, a pioneer in the work of Catholic education and the first American-born saint. Nestled on 58 acres in the suburban village of South Orange, New Jersey, Seton Hall's campus is home to eight schools: the College of Arts and Sciences, the W. Paul Stillman School of Business, the College of Education and Human Services, the College of Nursing, University College, the School of Graduate Medical Education. Seton Hall's School of Law is located in Newark.

From its original enrollment of a handful of students, Seton Hall grew rapidly. During its first 12 years, the College had enrolled over 500 freshmen from 17 states and six foreign countries. Seton Hall has always reflected the growing ethnic scope of its students and the increasing diversity of the Church and society it has served. In the 19th century, in spite of setbacks, major fires, lean times and the Civil War years, the College continued to expand. By 1937, Seton Hall established a University College. This marked the first matriculation of women at Seton Hall. The University became fully coeducational in 1968.

The years after the Second World War witnessed unprecedented growth for Seton Hall as it responded to the needs of thousands of veterans seeking higher education. The College was organized into a university in 1950, comprising the College of Arts and Sciences and the Schools of Business, Nursing and Education. The School of Law opened its doors in 1951.

The next two decades saw the construction and modernization of a large number of facilities and the construction of the library, science building, residence halls and the student center. Many new programs and majors were inaugurated, as were important social outreach efforts. New ties were established with the private and industrial sectors, and a growing partnership developed with federal and state governments in creating programs for the economically and educationally disadvantaged.

The 1970s and 1980s continued to be a time of growth and renewal. New business and nursing classroom buildings and an art center were opened. In 1984 the Immaculate Conception Seminary returned to Seton Hall, its original home until 1926, when it moved to Darlington. The recreation center was dedicated in 1987. With four new residence halls constructed between 1984-1988, Seton Hall now provides living space for approximately 2,000 students.

Recently established new programs in business, nursing, public service, medicine, pastoral theology, corporate and public communication, and other areas have kept the curriculum abreast of the needs of students into the 1990s and beyond.
