What's an FSA?

It's an account that lets you set aside money pretax to pay eligible medical expenses, such as eyeglasses, over-the-counter medications, doctor visit copays and many more.¹ You can contribute up to $2,750 to your FSA, with immediate access to the full amount. And because FSA dollars are not taxable, more of your money stays in your own pocket. Saving money on your health care expenses is just the beginning. Open your Cigna FSA with carryover today and get ready for even more – and less.

How an FSA works

- › Enroll at work. You can contribute up to $2,750 to your FSA. Now, that's easy!

- › Depending on your plan, you may be able to carry over up to $500 into next year. So, no more "use it or lose it."

More savings

- › Every pretax dollar you contribute can save you around 35 cents.²
- › The carryover minimizes the risk of losing unused FSA funds at the end of the year.

- › Your FSA account is integrated with your benefit information, so it's easy to manage both in one convenient place: myCigna.com.

How an FSA helps people save real money

Doug's story

Doug is enrolled in a Cigna medical plan that covers him, his wife and their son. He is looking for smart ways to save more of his health care dollars in the upcoming plan year. To help reach his savings goals, Doug plans to enroll in a Cigna flexible spending account with year-end carryover.

How much of his pretax earnings should he contribute to his FSA? Estimating is easy.

Step 1

Doug reviews his out-of-pocket expenses from last year and enters this amount into the Cigna FSA calculator at Cigna.com/fsacalc.

Step 2

The FSA calculator helps Doug estimate his expenses, and Doug chooses to contribute $2,200.

Step 3

The calculator also estimates that this contribution gives him a tax savings of $718.²

Best of all, if Doug doesn't spend the entire $2,200 by the end of his plan year, he doesn't have to worry. His FSA with carryover lets him carry up to $500 over to his next plan year. Now that's peace of mind!
